Celestica contributes to dialogue on new approaches to power management and energy efficiency for data centers

Celestica Inc. (NYSE, TSX: CLS), a global leader in the delivery of end-to-end product lifecycle solutions, today announced its membership in The Green Grid - a global consortium dedicated to advancing energy efficiency in data centers. General Membership in The Green Grid allows Celestica to participate in industry-wide dialogue on energy efficient data center solutions and best practices.

Celestica is committed to environmental sustainability by developing safe, efficient and environmentally conscious operating and manufacturing processes and by helping customers achieve their environmental goals. Participating in industry dialogue through The Green Grid enables Celestica to help its customers maximize the functionality, density, and energy efficiency of their unique data centers.

The Green Grid seeks to provide industry wide recommendations on best practices, metrics and technologies that will improve overall data center energy efficiencies. By joining The Green Grid, Celestica is helping influence both developers and end users of data center technology.

"Developing energy efficient data center solutions is a key priority for our customers in this market," said Walter Jankovic, Vice President and General Manager, Data Center Solutions, Celestica. "By sharing our expertise in design, engineering and manufacturing with the consortium, we can contribute to the advancement of energy efficient data centers and drive standards throughout the data center industry."
