FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 2000

CELESTICA ANNOUNCES STRATEGIC ALLIANCE
WITH MOTOROLAINCLUDES MULTI-YEAR SUPPLY AGREEMENT WORTH US$1 BILLION AND ACQUISITION OF MOTOROLA MANUFACTURING ASSETS IN DUBLIN, IRELAND AND MT. PLEASANT, IOWA.

TORONTO, Canada - Celestica Inc. (NYSE, TSE: CLS), a world leader in electronics manufacturing services (EMS), announced today that it has entered into agreements providing for a strategic EMS alliance with Motorola, Inc., of Schaumburg, Illinois. As part of this alliance, Celestica has entered into a supply agreement with Motorola that has a total estimated value of more than US$1 billion over a three year period.

Under the terms of the agreements Celestica will provide electronics manufacturing services for a broad range of Motorola wireless telecommunications products, such as cellular phones, messaging devices, two-way radio products and related accessories.

Celestica will acquire Motorola's manufacturing assets in Dublin, Ireland and Mt. Pleasant, Iowa at a price of approximately US$70 million subject to post-closing adjustments. In addition to the transfer of assets, it is expected that approximately 1,200 employees will join Celestica. Further details of the deal, which is expected to close in the first quarter of 2001, were not released.

The transaction aligns Celestica in a long term, strategic relationship with a market leader in integrated communications and embedded electronic solutions and diversifies Celestica's strong communications and internet infrastructure customer-base, which includes over 38 companies in the areas of optical, data networking, wireless and high-speed access.

"Celestica is very pleased to enter into this significant alliance relationship with Motorola, a strategic telecommunications customer," said Eugene Polistuk, president and CEO, Celestica. "This announcement further strengthens Celestica's position as a world leader in the EMS industry, specifically in the rapidly expanding wireless telecommunications sector."

"Motorola must remain nimble and stay ahead of the marketplace in order to retain and grow its position as a technology leader," said Christopher B. Galvin, Motorola's chairman and chief executive officer. "Leveraging the expertise of a strategic partner and leader in the electronics manufacturing services industry, like Celestica, enables Motorola to better anticipate its customers' evolving needs and helps speed the time-to-market of Motorola's products around the world."
